

Practice Development Webinar

Working with People with Learning Disabilities and Their Carers

Thursday 5th June 2025

11.00am - 12.30pm

Jill Manthorpe, CBE

Emerita Professor of Social Work
King's College London

Jill Manthorpe, CBE, is Emerita Professor of Social Work at King's College London who has worked in social care research for many years on a range of topics. She is currently a Trustee of a national and local charity and provides advice to various research funders, government bodies and councils.

She has published widely on social work and social care practice and policy, including the development of training resources, CPD materials, toolkits, and information for people with care and support needs.

This session is an overview of recent developments and may be of most value to those who want to update their knowledge in this area or are new to this area of practice.

It will cover current thinking around practice and policy, with explanations of different terms and their usage.

Image courtesy of
Transly Translation
Agency on Unsplash